Steve Raybine is a nationally known virtuoso vibraphonist who has earned a reputation for his exciting live performances and melodically-appealing and rhythmically-compelling original contemporary jazz compositions. He has taken his background in music and transformed the artistic elements into visual art through his digital designs. This exhibit features new works of black and white organic, melodic and rhythmic shapes that make up a lexicon of musical visual language.

Please, come join Artist/Musician Steve Raybine at this exhibition open house to say “Hello” and see his new works. Light refreshment of wine and cheese served.

Guests may enter via west side door. Gallery is on lower level in the church common room.
